Title: Brattleboro Festival of Miniatures

BFoM Team:

Melany Kahn, Founder & Director

Nancy Vitale, Executive Producer

Deb Holman, Director of Marketing & Communications

Press Inquiries: debholm@gmail.com

Tagline: A townwide celebration of small scenes with big imagination, open Nov 27 to Jan 10, free to all.

DESCRIPTION: Discover 100 store windows brimming with magical miniature scenes, darling doll houses, tiny terrariums, and model train displays. Shop the Downtown Brattleboro Alliance pop-up artisan holiday market, attend themed events, and enjoy tiny treats from one-of-a-kind restaurants. Tour exhibitions of miniature art across town, including at the Museum of Things Tiny and Found and Brattleboro Museum & Art Center. This year's Festival centerpiece is the ItsyBella Stewart Gardner Museum—an homage to the famed Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum in Boston—adorned with the original miniature work of more than 100 local artisans. Visit festivalofminiatures.org/events to see a full list of events.
